Q: How can I display user data in a jQuery tab using select2? I'm using the following code to generate the jQuery tab structure for my project: `firstname;?>`

I'd also like to get the selected value of each user in order to populate that user's web form. In my jQuery code I have the following: `$("#tab-content a").on('click', function(e){ e.preventDefault(); $("#tab-content").find("[data-toggle='tab']").click(); });` How can I find the user's firstname and/or id value?

A: The "id" attribute can be used to display extra information: John Doe $.each(your_json_object_or_array,

function(index, element){ $("#user_info").append(" + element.firstname + "); }); While the "data-*" attributes should be used to store the id/value of something that you want to bind to JavaScript. For example:
