What I need to do is take that into a batch file and delete all but the first 5 items, then rename the file so that all of the names start with the numbers and then append the letter B to the end of the file name. So the file would look like B_file1, B_file2, etc. Then go back into the folder and rename the file so that the B's aren't in front of the name, so that it would look like file1, file2, etc. The looped portion of the batch file works like this... The Reel Orchestra is an Austin, Texas-based all-accordion orchestra. Founded in 1978 by Doyt Huffman, it quickly grew in popularity to perform at major accordion events, go abroad twice, and perform in Canada, France, and Switzerland. Its debut show was at the Santa Fe Fourth of July Celebration in Santa Fe, New Mexico in 1985. The group was named to The Austin Chronicle's All-Time Top 5 list in 2012. History On March 6, 1978, Doyt Huffman, Jim Smith, and David Hunsberger, all Luther College students, founded The Austin Accordion Ensemble as an ensemble of only one or two accordions. It was originally called The Austin Accordion Ensemble of Radio Writers. They booked at first in small, local venues, such as the Vina Room, and also as the house orchestra for the Muleshoe Dance Hall. This newly-founded band quickly began drawing big crowds. After the passing of Aaron "Buzz" Alexander, an Austin accordionist who had enjoyed mainstream popularity, it became apparent that The Austin Accordion Ensemble of Radio Writers was needed to perform in larger auditoriums to fill large venues. The ensemble changed in look, sound, and image, but maintained its core core members: Huffman, Hunsberger, Smith, and others. In June 1979, The Austin Accordion Ensemble of Radio Writers opened for the Austin Jazz Festival. The group's next four appearances were as the featured band in the upcoming Austin Jazz Festival. By August the ensemble was promoting and booking in major venues across the United States. Two productions were produced and aired on PBS: Facing the Music and Accordion Mania - Accordionism in America. The ensemble was featured on This Is Your Life. They were featured in the local newspaper on October 10, 1980. When the ensemble played at the National Accordion Convention in Toledo, Ohio in 1983, the Tribune called it a "working model for classically trained musicians to train a large number of accordionists." International success In 1984, The Reel Orchestra was founded. The band was named to the World Music Awards Final list in 1986. In 1988, the band played in France, Switzerland, and Canada. The group went on tour to Europe in 1988. The key to the group's international success lay in its work with accordion technology innovator Mario Lara, who
