The entire game concept is based on a fully functional mobile launcher design. The mobile launcher is fully driveable, although the player will not be able to observe or operate any of the moving components of the vehicle as this would require to first drive the vehicle to any location of the map. The mobile launcher is as simple to operate as all the other mobile launchers and can be unlocked by anyone who locates a combination of keys. The mobile launcher is covered in black vinyl on the top, sides and the roof of the vehicle, and on each launcher tube there are laser-etched the letters "DF-41" along with other emblems and markings on the walls of the launcher. The primary purpose of the game DF-41 Simulator is to allow and encourage players to deploy the mobile launcher in any location and at any time of the day. To start the simulation the mobile launcher should be positioned directly in front of the doors of the door cabin of the mobile launcher, and the turret should be raised so that it looks directly at the ground. Once the mobile launcher is in this starting configuration, the player should press the "R" key to begin the simulation. Inside the door cab of the mobile launcher there are 2 keys, one is the "Enter" key to drive the mobile launcher and the other key is the "Eject" key to jettison the mobile launcher's nuclear warhead. Anywhere on the map is reachable by the mobile launcher on wheels with the help of two movable boosters. (The boosters that always move towards the player should be located on top/side and front/rear/bottom respectively of the mobile launcher). If the mobile launcher is driving on the desert map, then the boosters that are always moving towards the player (inhibiting the player from walking) should be located on top/side and front/rear/bottom respectively of the mobile launcher. `~E and find the right code~ #1) Press "E" to ENTER/(also exits) vehicle to drive the DF-41 in WASD mode (must be standing very close to the front door of the cab to activate "E" key) " E"DF-41`

What I want to achieve is to loop through these bytes and change them to hexa-values. For that purpose, I tried with following way: public void HexChange(byte[] bytes) { } Where a constructor is: public Byte(params byte[] src) { _c = (int)src[0]; _c2 = (int)src[1]; _d = (int)src[2]; _e = (int)src[3]; _f = (int)src[4]; _g = (int)src[5]; _h = (int)src[6]; _i = (int)src[7]; } But the _c is always 0 and same is the case for other _c as well. Any solution/input to achieve this is highly appreciated. A: The jagged array constructor will probably work for you, but you may need to explicitly enumerate the array

Tennis Story is a tennis video game published by Perfect Expression for the Game Boy in 1994. It was re-released as a part of the Game Boy Aim series. A Microsoft Windows version, by Brazilian company Interplay, was released in 1997. The Windows version adds a multiplayer mode, and is more similar to Serve and Volley (it even features a cover from this game). On February 5, 2007, the game was re-released on the Nintendo Wii's Virtual Console as part of the Game Boy Classics collection. Story Your backyard has just been transformed into tennis court. Tennis is considered the most exciting sport in the world. All you need is a ball, a racket, and your tennis apparel (i.e. tennis shorts, tennis shirt, etc.). Put on your tennis apparel, grab a tennis ball, and away you go! There are many different types of tennis balls available in the market. You can play with the squashball, paddleball, or even with a specially designed tennis ball. However, in this game you'll play with a tennis ball only. Squashballs and paddleballs can be trickier to control. It's much easier to play with a tennis ball. You have to start the game with one or two players. Pick any of the five different characters you want to play as. Once you complete the game with one of the characters, you'll be able to play the game again with the same character for free, or you can start a new game for real. Take off your tennis apparel, put on your tennis shorts or tennis shirt, and start playing tennis! Controls All controls were made exactly the way they were on Serve and Volley and most other tennis games. However, the controller defaults to the following controls. + L: Throw or Swing. + R: Throw or Serve. +A: Hard Stroke (Push throw). +B: Serve. + Select: Pick a character. + Start: Quick Tennis. - Directional Pad: Do a Jump. - A: Serve Backhand. - B: Serve Forehand. - Bump/RB: Serve Backhand. Reception Tennis Story received mostly positive reviews from critics for the Game Boy. Famitsu reviewed the Famicom version, and awarded it a 33/40 score. GamePro rated the Game Boy version a 7 out of 10. The four reviewers at
