You can see the changelog

for the Windows 10 update and find the link to the details. This changelog entry states that the IP address ‘cannot be dynamically assigned.’ This means that your DHCP settings have to be updated by going into your IP settings via the ‘Change IP settings’ button.

You can find this option in your computer/laptop’s settings. To back up your IP settings, follow these steps: Go to your computer/laptop’s settings and find the ‘Network and Sharing Center’ from the menu. Alternatively you can use the Windows button and choose ‘Network and Internet’ from the menu. Go to the ‘Adapter Settings’ and click the ‘Properties’ button on the right side. You can now choose ‘Change Adapter settings’ from the menu. This will open the dialog shown below: Click the ‘Apply’ button to confirm and hit the ‘OK’ button. In the ‘Change IP settings’ dialog window, you will see that the ‘Dynamic Host Configuration Protocol (DHCP)’ is set to ‘disabled.’ Click the ‘OK’ button to confirm. If you have multiple computers with your ISP settings enabled, click the 'Save All Settings' button. You will then need to restart each computer for the new settings to take effect. Microbial cell surface components; lipid A: biochemistry, genetics, and function.
