thanks to clipboard images , you can search for similar photos inside the entire web. you can also choose to only compare those photos to yourself. finally, you can select "only compare to specific images" which would only show you images similar to the one you copied to your clipboard (or your clipboard is empty). note that the selection of your "images to compare to" or "from" can be quite large, depending on how many photos are already loaded on your system. and for those photos that have a lot of similar photos, you'll only see the first 50 on the selection list. @ilyaros_2
