it might be difficult to believe, but a remote desktop that can work on all your computers and manage them in a single client isn't all that common. however, cohesive is a powerful tool that gives your tech support team complete access to all your computers. from security, to monitoring, to remote control, cohesive offers the most convenient way to access, manage, and keep all your computers in one client. that might be why it was chosen by google for its cloud remote desktop initiative. screenconnect is focused on providing a single app that lets you access all your desktop apps from the phone, whether it is android, iphone, ipad, or windows. the one interface lets you access all your remote desktops, instead of forcing you to be a member of a specific community. this makes it quite easy for companies, especially smaller ones, to provide remote assistance. no matter what your industry is, you can take advantage of this service from your android or ios mobile device. its apps are available for both the iphone and android, and the app performance is quite good. all your devices are sorted according to the plan that you have chosen. it also includes a feature that lets you pin a specific type of device to the top. when you connect to a remote desktop, it lets you copy and paste any data and files. the app lets you pin data and files directly to the desktop, so there is no need to switch between the desktop and mobile apps. its a pretty nifty feature, and one that is not available on teamviewer. if copying and pasting files is something that you are not comfortable with on your mobile device, then maybe you should try out supremo control. cons 5ec8ef588b
