There are a lot of free movies available online. I am wondering how many (if any) movies I should download before I find the movie that I want to watch the most. I want to avoid downloading movies that I do not need and also make sure I only download movies that are not available in my region. Does anyone have any suggestions on how to pick a movie to download? Is there a service that can help? I am looking for an online service that offers a set number of free movies. A: You should download any movie you want to watch, but only download movies that you know you want to watch. This helps you avoid wasting bandwidth and storage space
